Subject: Letter of Recommendation for Caitlin Garfias Chan

Dear Scholarship Committee,

I hope this letter finds you well. I'm writing to endorse Caitlin Garfias Chan for the UFV scholarship award. As her instructor in CMNS 353 (Organizational Research) class, I have had the pleasure of getting to know her and witnessing her impressive growth and dedication firsthand.

Caitlin has truly stood out in our research class. She consistently brought passion, curiosity, and a genuine appetite for knowledge to every project she tackled. Whether it was contextualizing various research methods during in-class activities, formulating thought-provoking research questions, and designing meticulous research ideas, Caitlin always went above and beyond. What is particularly noteworthy is her passion for autism research. She demonstrated a keen interest in this area and understands the importance of highlighting the unique challenges within autism community. Her dedication to this cause is both admirable and impactful.

Beyond her academic interests, something else that stood out to me about Caitlin that she is an incredible team player. She contributed thoughtfully to class discussions, showing she has a real knack for communication. She can take complex ideas and explain them clearly and engaging, both in presentations and in writing. Caitlin is just a great person to have in class. She approaches challenges with determination, her integrity shines through in everything she does, and she always showed a willingness to learn and grow.

I truly believe that Caitlin has what it takes to excel in her academic and professional pursuits. She would make a fantastic recipient of the UFV scholarship award, and I'm confident that she would make the most of this opportunity.
